Erin Crowe is an accomplished executive in the sports and entertainment industry. She is the Executive Vice President, Chief Financial Officer and Alternate Governor of Senators Sports & Entertainment, the umbrella organization which owns and operates the Ottawa Senators and Scotiabank Place. Erin was promoted to her current role in June 2009 after thirteen years with the Senators organization in increasingly senior financial positions. She is one of the first female Alternate Governors in the National Hockey League.

Erin supports the Ottawa community through board positions with the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario (CHEO) and Roger's House. She is the proud mother of two amazing (and busy) children, Owen and Reganne, age 3 and 21 months.
